Book Group: There's still time for you to order February's BAH book selection, "No Time to Spare" by Ursula K. LeGuin, who has taken readers to imaginary worlds for decades. Now she's in the last great frontier of life, old age, and exploring new literary territory with wit, compassion and criticism. When asked by a reader what she does all day, LeGuin answered, "I cannot find anywhere in my life a time or a kind of time that is unoccupied." Her life remains abundant with activities, for as she comments, "I am going to be 81 next week. I have no time to spare." Ursula LeGuin speaks to all of us in our aging years with this superb collection of writings.

Join us at Nanette Davis' home. Call her (360-671-1686) for directions and call BAH if you need a ride (360-746-3462).

Thursday, Feb.28, 1:30-3:30 p.m., BSAC Rm 16

End-of-Life Planning Workshop, Part 1: Bellingham At Home offers a free two-part workshop to help us prepare to make our own choices about how we die, and talk openly about those choices. Facilitated by Nancy Simmers, a member of BAH's Health Partnership Committee. Please register ahead of time with the BAH office or at BSAC's front desk.
